

INTERNATIONAL WINE REPORT

The 2012 Central Coast Chardonnay from Calera is a good entry-level effort. The fruit is sourced from 10 different vineyards. It offers lovely notes of white peach, green apple, tropical fruit, pine needle and lemon zest along with a gentle touch of smokiness and white floral notes. It has good clarity and a fresh mineral driven finish. Overall, this is a great value, drink it now or over the next 5-7 years. (Best 2014-2020)

– MD

89
POINTS

