

Top

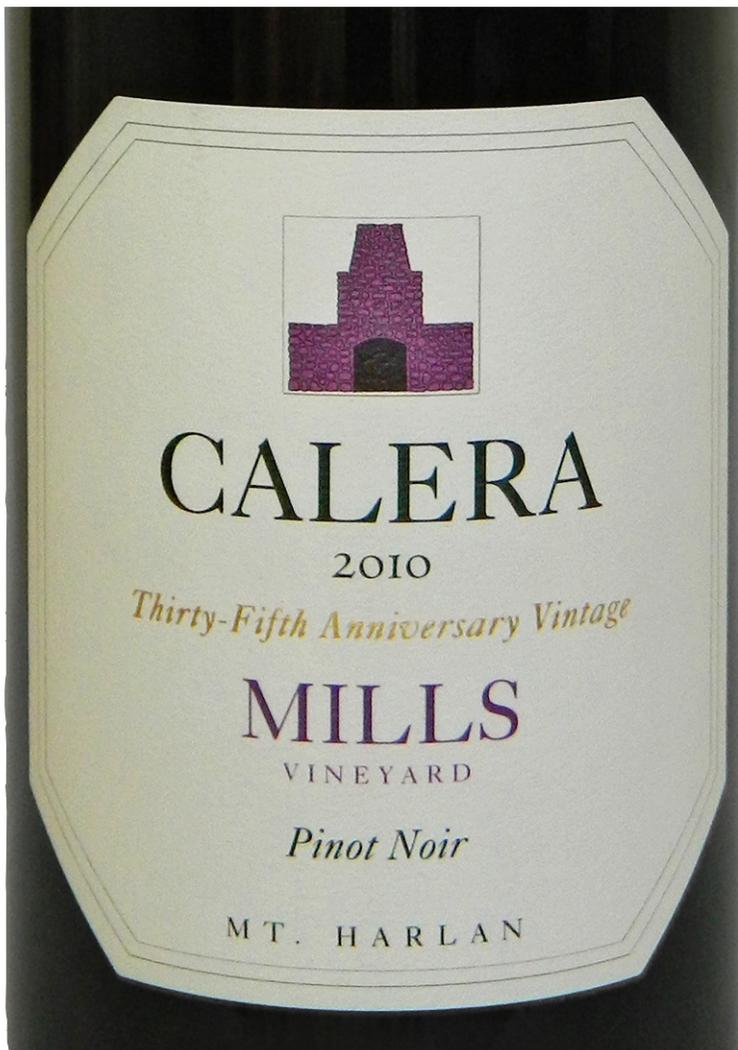

12.02.2013

Wines of 2013

San Francisco Chronicle

2010 Calera Mills Vineyard Mt. Harlan Pinot Noir

Josh Jensen's original 1975 plantings often get more attention, but at 29 years old, his Mills parcel, planted in 1984 on its own roots with cuttings from the original sites, has more than come into its own. This latest is fragrant and delicate by Calera's modern standards (and a relative bargain) with tree bark and sweet carob aromas and a wet-flower subtlety to the rich cherry flavors — but no shortage of structural power or Calera's classic muskiness.

— Jon Bonné

SFGate.com