"From one of America's finest producers of Viognier, the 2003 Viognier exhibits a light greenish hue to its straw/gold color as well as complex mineral and floral notes intermixed with honeyed citrus and orange blossom scents. Medium-bodied and elegant, this impressive Viognier reveals more class and complexity than most Californian examples of this varietal. It should drink well for 1-3 years".

The first great California Viognier I ever had was Calera's, and I've admired it ever since... Elegant and delicious.
